

FRENCH WILL USE OWN RAIL MEN IN RUHR

Each of Railroad Systems in France to Send Certain Percentage of Its Employees

YARDS DESOLATE

Main Lines Also Take on Appearance

Coal Output Diminishing

(By the Associated Press.)

Dusseldorf, Feb. 6.—General Weyand and M. Le Troquer, French minister of public works, arrived at Dusseldorf today for their third visit since the occupation; they found the railroad strike so effective that they were obliged to motor from Albi-Chapelle. They were accompanied by Manager Boue of the Nord railroad. A conference held at General Deputé's headquarters dealt particularly with the situation created by the complete railroad strike. Efforts will be directed to improve the service for the transport of food to the armies and civil populations and also to operate a 50 per cent normal passenger schedule. It is understood that every railroad system in France will send a certain percentage of its trainmen from all departments.

The efforts of the committee for the defense of the Ruhr, which was formed under Chancellor Cuno's direction, are beginning to be seriously felt. The French have abandoned hope of the German railroad men returning their ports; they are well supplied with money, which enables them to live on the same standard as when working.

Essen is completely isolated from telephonic and railroad communication and business men and bankers are motoring to Dusseldorf and Gelsenkirchen in order to transact their affairs with customers. The proud house of Krupp has been obliged to establish a messenger service to Gelsenkirchen to handle the firm's business. The French aver that Hugo Stinnes' visit to Essen is partly responsible for the renewed resistance of the German leaders.

The road from Dusseldorf to Essen is completely blocked. The French army is completely isolated from the Ruhr. The French army is completely isolated from the Ruhr. The French army is completely isolated from the Ruhr.

Deloy, a French amateur, stated that he will transmit Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday each week until March 15, from midnight to 12:30 eastern standard time and listen from 12:30 to 1:00 p.m. He will transmit on wave lengths of 155 to 119 meters.

FIGHTING IN TRIPOLI

Rome, Feb. 6.—The fighting in Tripoli between the Italian troops and the rebels has been almost incessant for the last week, according to advices from the semi-official Stefani agency. The colonial troops fought eleven engagements against strong rebel detachments, which were forced to retreat to the south with heavy losses.

ALIEN PROPERTY MAY BE RETURNED

Nothing More Than $10,000 Affected; Bergdoll's Will Not Benefit by Law

Washington, Feb. 6.—The administration measure, proposing return of many millions of dollars worth of enemy alien property seized during the war was formally approved today by the house interstate commerce committee after it had been amended in many important particulars.

Aside from the original proposal for return of as much as $10,000 of each trust fund held by the alien property custodian, the measure carries the general provisions.

Payment to the original owners of all income from trusts administered by the custodian.

Return to the original owners, other than once enemy aliens, of their stock in corporations, companies, partnerships and associations in such cases where a majority of the stock was owned at the time of seizure by other than enemy aliens.

Restoration to the original owners of all patents seized and not now in litigation and not sold to, or licensed by the war or navy departments.

Prohibition against the return of any part of the property of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, escaped draft evader, or other persons fugitive from the justice of the United States or any individual state.

Under the $10,000 return provision, Colonel Thomas Miller, the custodian, estimates that approximately 28,000 trusts of less than that amount in total value would be completely liquidated and that $10,000 would be paid out of each 2,000 trusts aggregating more than the $10,000.

This provision would permit the custodian to turn back outright about $44,000,000 of the approximately $350,000,000 of property now held by him. This would leave around $300,000,000 to guarantee payments of American claims against Germany, in addition to the $200,000,000 worth of the once German owned ships, which the government now holds.

NO PEACEFUL RAIL STRIKE POSSIBLE

Ben Hooper Declares Labor Proposes to Defeat All Legislation to Prevent Strikes

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Out of the unrest among laboring people of the world, two causes, genuine grievances and Bolshevik propaganda, rise to tell why they are here, said Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States Railroad Labor board, at the annual banquet of the Tennessee Manufacturers' association here tonight.

The radical propaganda of unwise labor leaders was named a third cause of unrest by which, he said, real grievances have been enormously magnified and quick remedies recommended.

All the strength of his address was directed at the strike by Chairman Hooper. "In theory, the strike is merely the exercise of economic power," he said, "but it often degenerates into the exercise of the crudest, most hideous brutal force. There never can be a successful railroad strike in this country without violence and such a movement cannot survive in this republic."

Under proper conditions, all labor legislation designed to prevent railway strikes, and now has a proposal which means nothing more or less than the complete wiping out of our written constitution. The logical sequence which our people would inevitably be called upon to face would be the conversion of the republic into some sort of a socialist or communist government or dictatorship of the proletariat.

New Jersey authorities investigating the double murder made no effort to interfere with her plans.

On her arrival here, Mrs. Hall went to the home of her friend, Miss Sally Peters, who is to accompany her abroad. She said she planned to spend a year or more in Italy.

BRITISH READY TO CONSIDER PROBLEM

Near East Conference, However, Appears to Have Ended; Ismet Pasha Leaves for Ankara

(By the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 7.—(Prospects of the immediate signing of the peace treaty by Turkey appear less certain this (Wednesday) morning, although optimism still prevails here. After mature deliberation, the British government advised the French government that it was ready to consider carefully any definite proposals Ismet Pasha might present to the allies, but the British decline to agree to the exclusion of the economic clauses of the treaty as suggested by the French.

In a word, the British refuse to resume the pourparlers unless the Turks give tangible evidence of their good will. The French were apprised of this attitude by telephone from London.

Premier Poincaré, after consultation with M. Bonapart and the other French delegates to the Lusanne conference, decided to associate himself with the British cabinet's decision declining to exclude the economic clauses from the treaty. M. Poincaré telegraphed Ismet Pasha, tonight requesting that he immediately state the final conditions he is prepared to sign.

Lausanne, Feb. 7.—Ismet Pasha issued the following statement at 1:30 o'clock this morning:

"I am making peace with the world. We made maximum sacrifice during the entire conference, and the world's public opinion will recognize this. Recently we made our propositions in response to allied proposals and we have not received any reply in writing."

"I believe that all the other delegates have departed for their capitals. I have received no communication; on the contrary, the secretary general says it has only suspended. Therefore, I do not deem that the conference has broken down."

"Like the other delegates, and after the other delegates, I will leave this morning to consult with my government at Ankara."

MASS OF FARMERS ARE LOSING MONEY

Strange Master Says This Is Result of Low Price Received and High Price Paid by Producers

Syracuse, Feb. 6.—The New York State senate at the evening today of its public convention was told by Albert Martin, grange master, that the time for a economy and conservation is at hand, and that "increasing appropriations and reduction of taxes do not go hand in hand."

"The reduction of prices is a result of the war," he said, "cultivated a habit of spending, not only personally but in business and industry. It is time to pause and re-examine."

Agriculture, he stated, has not recovered from the price fixing policy during the war and the deflation policy since the war. "As a result of the low prices the farmer is receiving for his products and the high prices he must pay for his supplies," he continued, "the great mass of our farmers are losing money."

He made a plea for farmers to stand by their cooperative organizations, the only weapons with which the individual producer can combat well organized buyers.

A large number of resolutions were presented at the first business session of the state senate, held late today, one declared opposition to the project of Governor Smith to reorganize the state department of farms and markets. Another favored a reduction in crop acreage in order to restore the balance between farm prices and prices the farmers pay for supplies and necessities. The rural education problem attracted a large number of resolutions. The senate will continue its public sessions today.

Clean Government, and Senators signed resolutions for the 1923 convention.

At the army transport St. Michel, by wireless to the Associated Press, Feb. 6.—Member of the army of occupation returning from their watch on the Rhine on board the transport St. Michel are impatiently pacing the decks in the rain awaiting their first glimpse in five years of the United States. Preparations have been made for the reception planned upon arrival of the ship at Savannah at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Twenty-four German war brides aboard the ship are very excited.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 6.—Although without definite information regarding the exact hour of arrival of the United States army transport St. Michel tomorrow, Savannah tonight rehearsed plans for the welcome home of the last of the American forces which participated in the World War.

During their discussion on radio messages received from the transport saying the St. Michel at noon today still was 263 miles off Savannah, mariners believe the ship could not reach Yamacraw much before 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Evidence that the St. Michel is fighting heavy seas and bad weather was seen by marine men in radio messages intercepted here today in which the transport asked radio stations in South Carolina to give her radio compass bearings.

Regardless of the time of arrival of the St. Michel, however, the citizens committee directing the celebration has timed its progress to start with the appearance of the transport in the Savannah river on Columbia path bluff, where two brass cannon captured in Yorktown from the British and presented in 1900 by George Washington to the city will be fired.

The salute will be given by the firing of "Big Ike," a huge gun used to shatter mines and ships and which ship, factory and other buildings and wharves will add their blasts to the welcome for the troops from the Rhine.

At the dock a formal reception will take place followed by the debarkation of the troops.

Allowing the troops time to examine their "land legs," the entire complement will parade through Savannah, being received by Mayor General Charles S. Farnsworth, chief of the military branch of the army, and other officials.

Barbecue for the enlisted men will be another feature of the afternoon. Following this event, some 400 troops assigned to the 1st division will entrain with their families for the port.

At 2 o'clock Thursday morning the St. Michel will sail for Charleston, S. C., where she will land more troops, continuing on then to New York.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 6.—Five persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, in a wreck on the Big Four railroad at St. Marys, Mo., west of here, when passenger train No. 40, east bound, St. Louis to New York, struck an open switch today.

Ernest McDonald, fireman, and T. M. Ingham, engineer, were seriously injured. McDonald was hurt probably fatally. Three mail clerks were bruised.

Four mail cars and coaches were derailed, but none of the passengers were injured, it was said.

Lumberman Near Death With Fractured Skull on Island in Lake Michigan

(By the Associated Press.)

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Marooned on an island in northern Lake Michigan, his skull fractured and aid from the mainland precluded because of the ice, a lumberman today while aviators of the United States air service sped northward to save him.

Lieutenant A. L. Jewett, acting air officer for the Chicago district, today received an appeal from Rudolph Pihl, cousin of young Cole, who had just received word of the accident. The youth, he said, was employed at a lumber camp on Beaver Island.

A telephone message received from the camp during the night said that Pihl's head had been caught between two logs and that he was without medical aid.

Lieutenant Jewett communicated the request for aid to Selfridge field at Mt. Clemens, Mich., where Major Carl Stutz dispatched two fliers as a rescue expedition.

The two fliers were to stop before they left the mainland and pick up a physician and promised to bring the injured man to a Detroit hospital if he could be moved.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MARCH TO SAFETY

485 Small Pupils Form in Line and Calmly Pass Through Smoke Filled Corridors

London, Feb. 6.—Four hundred and eighty-five small children marched to safety in perfect order when they broke out in the Lincoln grammar school here shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

Miss Hoxter, teacher of the seventh grade, led the children to the entrance of the school and they calmly passed through the smoke-filled corridors just as they had been taught to do.

They hurried into the street, leaving behind all wraps, although the morning was only six degrees above zero at the time. Every child was accounted for when freedom arrived.

The interior of the building was destroyed. The fire is believed to have started from overheated boilers.

Two hours after the fire was discovered the roof and walls caved in. The building was the oldest grammar school in the city but had recently been rebuilt. The loss will exceed $125,000.

STEALS SHIPLOAD OF FINE LIQUORS

Bootleggers' Aid Makes Way With Whiskey Brought From Bahama Islands

Newark, N. J., Feb. 6.—An organized gang of Newark bootleggers is reported as engaged in a venture which for a "strong arm" outfit would be considered a "big haul" by the police. The gang is reported to have stolen a shipload of whiskey from the Bahamas and to have landed it in Newark.

About three months ago a group of men organized a pool to bring a shipload of liquor from the Bahamas to Newark. In order to insure protection it was decided to hire a "strong arm" outfit to guard the ship on the way and one who is detailed to accompany the shipments from the Bahamas to Newark.

Two hundred and thirty thousand dollars was contributed by the men in the pool and a committee was organized to go to the Bahamas islands, buy the liquor and charter a ship to bring it to New Jersey.

When the ship arrived Sandy Hook, a few of the committee left the vessel to go to the Bahamas islands, buy the liquor and charter a ship to bring it to New Jersey.

The men went to the island to hear from the ship which was left outside the three-mile limit. Messengers sent to instruct the captain how to get the vessel into Newark bay found it gone.

Then for several days more hours cruised about searching for it, but to no avail. At last a report reached the partners that the ship had docked in a Pennsylvania port and unloaded her cargo.

It is pointed out that the "strong arm" supercargo had been arrested several times on bootlegging charges and he knew he might have been afraid to land the liquor here.

The vessel carried 6,000 cases of liquor which the pool intended to sell for $80 a case.

DELAY TO BRITISH FUNDING MEASURE

Harding Probably Will Recommend Amendment of Present Law to Hinder Bonus Rider

Washington, Feb. 6.—Although sending of the British debt settlement agreement to congress, Republican leaders bent about with plans for prompt action on the legislation necessary to give the agreement effect. The program, as now outlined, calls for house action not later than early next week with senate passage before the end of the month.

President Harding is expected to transmit the agreement to congress tomorrow with an accompanying message in writing, but whether he will suggest the specific form of the congressional enabling act still was undecided tonight. Some Republican leaders in congress were of the opinion that the executive might leave this for their decision.

Mr. Harding was represented today as favoring an amendment of the existing law, rather than a formal resolution merely approving the British settlement, and some of the administration leaders at the capital were in agreement with him. One argument advanced in favor of the law amendment process was that it should be more difficult to attach to each legislation a "bonus rider" proposal than would be the case if a resolution for approval were brought out.

LUSK QUIZZES GREENE ABOUT STATEMENTS

Committee Votes 10 to 1 to Report Favorably on Confirmation as Highway Commissioner

Albany, Feb. 6.—The nomination by Governor Smith of Colonel Frederick Lusk Greene, Nassau, as state commissioner of highways probably will be confirmed by the senate tomorrow. After a two hours hearing before the senate committee today, during which Colonel Greene was subjected to a fire of questions by Minority Leader Clayton R. Lusk, virtually all the time, the committee voted, 10 to 1, to report the nomination favorably to the senate. The one vote against confirmation was cast by Senator Lusk, one "Republican member of the committee, Senator George L. Thompson, Nassau, voted with the solid Democratic delegation in favor of confirmation, while the other two Republican members, John Knight, Wyoming, and Charles J. Hewitt, Cayuga, were absent when the roll was called.

The examination of Colonel Greene by Senator Lusk was based on an article entitled "Highways and Highwaymen," which appeared in a magazine of national circulation last May. Colonel Greene admitted that he was the author of it, but declared that his title, "An Amateur Job Holder," was changed to the more alliterative caption by the editors of the publication.

Colonel Greene declared that all the incidents and episodes recounted in the article were true. These included statements that state highways had been constructed in sparsely settled regions, where they served no useful purpose, solely for the political benefits that might accrue to members of the legislature through road construction; that more than $1,000,000 had been expended for road work purely for political purposes and to provide campaign capital for the legislature.

The hearing was lively from the beginning and interest was not allowed to flag until the committee room was cleared for an executive session in other matters. The public was admitted to the proceedings, which, in itself was almost unprecedented. Colonel Greene's entrance was the signal for a burst of applause, which caused Senator Lusk to remark that "the 'York system' of having a clique of job holders seemed to be in vogue in Albany. Majority Leader James Walker challenged Senator Lusk to point out a job holder in the crowd and he would have him removed. The challenge was not accepted.

Colonel Greene admitted that contracts for two unnecessary roads, costing more than $121,000 to build, were let by him shortly after he took office in 1919. He was guided by the advice of other men in the department, he said, and being "innocent of politics," he supposed that all were pulling together for the construction of the best kind of a state highway system. He also admitted that he withheld contracts on other roads at the same time and that in so doing he was actuated by engineering reasons. He could tell by the plans on file in his office, he said, whether a road was properly designed from the engineering standpoint, but he was not able to tell them whether a road was projected to serve any real need.

When Senator Lusk asked him why he did not state in his magazine article that he had let the contracts for the roads which were built for political purposes, he replied that he had so stated but that the editor deleted more than 2,000 words from his manuscript and had edited out that particular statement.

YANKS LEAVING RHINE TOO SOON, SAYS LEGION HEAD

Savannah, Feb. 6.—American troops on the Rhine are coming home too soon, in the opinion of Albert M. Owsen, national commander of the American Legion, expressed in an address to Legion leaders here tonight. "This force that returns to America," he said, "has been called by European military experts the most precious thing the world has ever known. The government should make arrangements for it to appear in several of the principal cities and receive the welcome it deserves."

Commander Owsen stated that the Legion is satisfied the adjusted compensation bill can be passed this year even in the event of a presidential veto. He said an intensive campaign would be waged against politicians who obstruct workings of the Veterans' Bureau.

FET WEARING APPAREL TO WEATHER. HYGIENISTS AND MODISTES AGREE

HOCKEY

A famous English hygienist, Dr. Mary Schickel, offers the advice to "wear December clothes in December." "To wear with stockings in cold weather," she says, "is to court trouble. Plain wool has saved many lives."

But the fashion expert and the health expert agree that women never will accept "plain" stockings. Yet the fashion expert consequently demands wearing hose for winter, and dealer and manufacturer followed the lead and gave women charming colors and styles, including the use of wool and cotton. All would have been well, according to the doctor, if it had not been for the stockings of wool and cotton. In an attempt to make the stockings more comfortable, the dealer has been advised by hygienists to use a material that is not so warm as wool, but is more comfortable. The dealer has been advised to use a material that is not so warm as wool, but is more comfortable. CHICAGO—The habit among women of walking with silk-socked feet through winter months and low temperatures is being derided not only by physicians and old-fashioned mothers but by younger and dress experts.

A woman looks better in winter, they say, "if she wears winter hose, just as she looks better in a velvet hat than she would in a straw."

A Flying Bishop.

The bishop of Bangor, Wales, has broken a record by flying to Cologne to deliver a sermon at the age of seventy-eight years. He is the Right Rev. Watkin Williams, member of an ancient Welsh family, the Williams of Bodwytlan, descended from Sir William Williams, speaker of the house of commons.

He began an illustrious career with a career which few Englishmen would care to pronounce, that of Rhododendron, and was for many years rector of Bodwytlan before becoming rector of St. Asaph and then bishop. He became bishop of Bangor thirty-two years ago.

GREELEY URGES FOREST FARMING

Chief Forester Calls for Efforts to Increase National Timber Supply.

OUTPUT IS FAST DECLINING

Survey Shows World Has No Longer to Offer When Cuts in Supply—Marked Decline in Output Since 1905.

Washington.—Chief Forester William B. Greeley, noting in his annual report that the world is assuming a growing attitude of prodigality toward its natural resources, urges a greater tendency in this direction for the nation's timber supply. To take stock of how much wood we have and what we shall need in an important step in determining our future attitude toward our forests, he says.

"As a background to this broad inquiry," Colonel Greeley continues, "forest service investigators have recently completed a unique and exhaustive compilation of the forest resources of the world. One startling revelation is that so far as our great structural and all-purpose woods—the soft woods—are concerned we must become self-sufficient or go without."

Forests of Siberia. Siberia has great forested areas, yet if all the Siberian timber were at the undisputed call of the United States the quantity available for annual export would hardly amount to one-fourth of our demands. Further, a great part of the forests of Siberia lie within the interior of the continent and never will be available.

The struggle for the world's supply of soft woods will become more and more intense, and those nations will fare best that prudently use their available waste lands for growing coniferous woods. This study shatters the dream of those who rely on importing the timber we need when our own is gone.

"The situation is not hopeful when we turn to our own forests. There has been a marked and fairly steady decline in our national output of lumber from about 40,000,000 board feet in 1905 to less than 34,000,000 board feet in 1920. This downward trend, which seems unlikely to turn perceptibly upward again at any time that can now be foreseen, has taken place in spite of a large increase in population, with its increasing demand for housing, furniture and wood in many other forms."

Drop in Consumption.
The decline in the production of lumber and the increase in population have resulted in a startling drop in the per capita consumption of lumber from over 500 board feet per person in 1905 to about 320 board feet in 1920. This decline in the consumption of wood unquestionably means a decline in the standards of living. Of this declining standard the shortage of housing is an impressive example.

The shortage of lumber, with its corollary of high prices, has followed the westward sweep of lumbering, while the bulk of our population and the greatest demands for lumber remain in the Central and Eastern states. The nation's lumber shipment in 1920, a recent forest service study shows, was no less than 2,070,000 carloads; and the average haul for each carload was 455 miles. According to the best estimate the forest service is able to make, the freight bill on lumber for that year was $75,000,000.

This sum merely gives one measure of the cost of treating our forests as mines instead of timber farms. A fraction of this sum wisely invested each year in forest protection and rehabilitation would grow timber where it is needed, reduce the nation's freight bill, cheapen lumber, and release vast amounts of railroad equipment and labor for unavailing transport. Coal and iron cannot be grown, but timber can be.

GET SUGAR FROM NIPPA PALM

After Extensive Investigation Experts Find Tropical Plant Also a Source of Alcohol.

London.—The Nippa palm, which grows over extensive areas in British North Borneo, can be used as a source of sugar and alcohol, according to a report submitted by experts after an extensive investigation. They estimate that 2,500 pounds of sugar and 200 gallons of alcohol can be obtained from an acre of swamp land planted with the palm.

The palm grows commonly in the estuaries of rivers throughout the Eastern tropics and is especially plentiful in the Philippine Islands. The sugary juice is obtained by removing the flowering shoot, and by repeatedly cutting the end of the stalk the flow can be maintained for two or three months, each stalk yielding from nine to ten gallons. Sugar can be extracted to the extent of about 15 per cent. The juice can then be fermented for the production of alcohol.

Sharks Injury Great Fishery. London.—Sharks lately have been causing havoc to fishing nets and have belonging to fishermen in the Firth of Forth. In three days the fishing fleet caught three of the great fish, one with seven feet of line in its belly. It is believed they are destroying valuable fishing.

COUGH KEMP'S BALSAM

TREES NOT DAMAGED BY WIRE

Belief Long Held Has Been Disproved by Experiments Made by University of Washington Expert.

In 1918 George R. Biggs of the University of Washington heard it stated that shade trees were being killed by driving one or two pieces of copper wire into each. He recently proceeded to put this to the test and announced his results in Science. His young trees, he writes, from two to four inches in diameter were selected, and on March 21, 1918, three were driven into each tree five pieces of thick copper wire 15 inches long. The end of each wire was left flush with the outer surface of bark. All wires were within six feet of the base of the tree. The trees comprised two hemlocks, two alders, one cedar, one willow.

On July 8, 1922, the trees were examined and found to be perfectly healthy. In all cases they had completely healed over the wires, and their growth was equal to that of other similar trees in the immediate vicinity. On cutting into the trees it was found that there was very little injury to the wood, merely a brown color showing for about 1.5 inches above and below the wire, and about 0.25 inch to each side.

New Ship Roaster.
Part of the electrical cooking apparatus in a new British ship consists of a cylindrical roaster, in which joints and fowls may be hung, and subjected to a grilling heat applied to the meat from all sides at once.

This is a step forward of any previously devised roasting apparatus, although it borrows its principle from the olden days when a piece of meat was hung on a spit and turned slowly around before live coals. Never has there been devised a process of cooking meat which resulted in such deliciousness of flavor as this form of roasting; but it was messy, smoky and very troublesome.

The coals had to be just right; there must be no wood or coal under combustion on the fire to taint the meat with smoke; there must be sufficient of the coals to maintain heat during the time required for cooking the meat. This was a complicated process, involving considerable skill and close attention.

First Vice President—Harper Steele.
Second Vice President—Earl Gage.

Good work has been done this winter by the club in keeping the state roads in condition for automobile traffic and there has not been many days when the roads have been closed to go up and down the state road to Otsego with the milk.

It is stated by traveling men that the roads from Mt. Otsego to Oneonta have been kept in the best traveling condition of any in the state, so far this winter. It has been possible to do this with the powerful Lima tractor with its large snow plow. It will push through a very deep snow drift, it has been also through from Mt. Otsego to South New Berlin and on to Norwich, opening up that state road so that it is now in the best traveling condition of any in the state.

The club has caused about fifty danger signs to be made and are all ready to be put up along the roads this spring. It is also planning for a membership campaign and will try to get a larger membership the coming year, and in making plans thus early for more extensive work on the roads another winter. It is a great benefit to automobile owners and every person owning one should join the club and help it along.

Come to New York.
Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Moore have moved their home in Morris on South Broad street for the rest of the winter and have gone to New York city to stay until about May 1st.

CHILDLESS HOMES MADE HAPPY

Presence of Little Ones a Great Blessing
Four Interesting Letters

Cortland, N.Y.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was weak and wanted to become strong and have a child. My husband read about it in the 'Cortland Standard' and thought it might help me. It certainly did for I now have a lovely boy fifteen months old who weighs forty pounds. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends and you can certainly use my testimonial in your little books and in the newspapers, every woman with a child, I was 35 years old when my first baby was born. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is willing with female weakness."—Mrs. J. CLAUDE P. CAMPBELL, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N.Y.

A Message to Mothers
Hamilton, Ohio.—"I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound since girlhood, having taken it when I was younger and suffering from a weakness and backache. Lately I have taken it again to strengthen me before the birth of my child, as I was troubled with pains in my back and a lifeless, weak feeling. I think if mothers would only take your wonderful medicine they would never dread childbirth as they do. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman."—Mrs. J. CLAUDE P. CAMPBELL, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N.Y.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me seven years ago. I was run down and had a weakness such as women often have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after being married sixteen years became the mother of a sweet little girl. I now have four lovely children—three fine boys and the little girl six years old. I had longed for children all the while and kept many a day and night every woman with a child, I was 35 years old when my first baby was born. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is willing with female weakness."—Mrs. J. CLAUDE P. CAMPBELL, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N.Y.

Was Weak and Run Down
St. Louis, Mo.—"My mother took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl, and when I was troubled with cramps I took it, and later when I married I again took it to make me strong as the doctor said I was weak and run down and could not have children. I took it and got along fine and now I have three girls. So you know why I keep the Compound in the house. I am a well woman and do my work and sewing too."—Mrs. J. CLAUDE P. CAMPBELL, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N.Y.

SUNDAY SHORT CUTS.

Turkey also has backed down and offers to sign the Italian Compromise clause in the treaty with the allies.

And in the Ruhr valley the miners and railroad men are to a fair extent working.

There is marked similarity between Berlin and Constantinople bluffs.

Both back down when the allies really talk turkey.

Harding will run for president in 1924. Lodge will not yield leadership in the senate and he denies naming Wadsworth and Lenroot as his aids.

There are late bulletins from the national capital and have a greater appearance of verity than usually goes with Washington specials. Often these dispatches seem to be sent out that they may be denied next morning.

If the immigration restriction act goes through, there will be only 181,000 foreigners admitted to the United States in a year as against the present figures of about twice as many.

The plan would shut out Japanese and would shut out Japanese and other orientals entirely. It would, however, let in 1,000 German-Americans, who were not war-time enemies, are cut to 4,312. It is not likely that the bill, though approved in committee, will pass in congress, and probably it should not.

Regarding the Lusitania conference it has been remarked that one cannot make a treaty with Turkey and keep your eye on the town clock.

Time, it has been said, was made for slaves, and the followers of Allah bear no mark of such servitude. Presently when the negotiators who walk of solemnly out, walk solemnly back again, they will doubtless find the Turk waiting to welcome them.

The New York Tribune intimates that a cut in telephone calls would be better than a cut in telephone rates.

But that is in N.Y., and certainly not in Oneonta, where the operators are uniformly prompt and courteous.

A symposium on bobbed hair recently collected by the celebrated illustrator, Penryn Stanlaw, reveals that the style won't go, or rather, it is undoubtedly comfortable in summer and is easy to take care of.

But against this is the fact that there are few women who look their best with short locks, that short hair reveals and accentuates defects in face and neck, and that once the locks are clipped it takes long time to grow them out again.

For these reasons, says Stanlaw after reading some thousands of replies, short hair is bound not to be continuously popular.

DeValers, if not Irish patriot at least Irish propagandist, writes a letter to a New York newspaper in which he attempts to justify his stand against the Irish Free State government, and over in Ireland he keeps up such incendiary speech as incites certain young men to continue the sniping of patriots of the staunch Michael Collins sort.

In general the Irish wholly accept the substance of a self-government which is all that any political division could ask, which from its geographical location must always in case of war ask aid of her big sister in the Empire.

Robert W. Chambers, writing of Lady Nicotine, avers that the swallowing of tobacco enhances the beauty of the human features. It may be so, but there are many of us who in a period of years as smokers of strong black cigars must have swallowed a goodly amount of tobacco, but who after serious scrutiny before the mirror fail to detect any alarming degree of pulchritude.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

A Democratic Opinion.

If Frank O. Lowden were President the American troops would not have been withdrawn from the Rhine. And we would be active in Europe. It helps a lot to unearth a fact now and then that tends to prove Mr. Harding was not entirely a mistake.

—(Johnstown Democrat.)

The Lovelace's Return.

It will be good to see the Lovelace of imperishable memory for her war service that broke all records for speedy mass transportation of troops, steaming majestically in the lanes of transatlantic travel next summer. Only a little under the canopy of Britain's pride, the Majestic, the great liner will worthily bear the Stars and Stripes across the Atlantic.—(Philadelphia Bulletin.)

College Sportsmanship.

In voicing a reaction against strict regulations designed to bar subsidized athletes from participation in college sports, Dean Briggs, of Harvard, once more proclaims his faith in the integrity of the individual college student. "If the college office should treat every student as a suspect," he writes, "it would stimulate in the student generally a desire to circumvent it."—(New York Tribune.)

Debt Adjustment Plan.

As for the United States, there should be no hesitation or delay in approving the debt adjustment plan. The extension of the time of ultimate payment to sixty-two years is wise, because it places upon posterity a part of the cost of the war. This extension of time should be applied to America's own obligations. There is no valid reason why the people of this generation should pay off all the Liberty and Victory bonds.—(Washington Post.)

Last of the Old Guard.

William Morris Hughes, prime minister of Australia, having resigned, there now remains in office none of the war premiers.

Mr. Hughes was a pushing, vigorous, uncompromising figure in the war. To his great activity and stirring patriotism was due in great measure Australia's great part. He insisted that every life, if needful, and every shilling in money should be given for the defense of the mother country, and the people stood by him.

Among his activities has been his agitation against the coming to the island continent of large numbers of Japanese and residents of India.

"Australia for the white man" has been his rallying cry; and it has been effective.—(Utica Observer-Dispatch.)

The "Better" Authors.

The bishop of Birmingham has stirred up a hornet's nest by a gulleas plea for a twentieth century Scott and a ditto Dickens. Straightway one of the most industrious novelists of the hour, scented a chance to break into headlines, hurled at the bishop by way of an open letter, a list of thirteen novelists now writing who are better than the two giants mentioned, and also superior to Thackeray.

Five of the colossi who tower above the titans of old, according to this reverent authority, are J. D. Beresford, Rebecca Wren, Arnold Ray, Smith, May Sinclair and Somerset Maugham. Somehow, that redoubtable array reminds one of the eulogist who wrote of a certain author: "His style was founded on the best models—Shakespeare, Addison and Fisher Ames." "Why drag in Fisher Ames?" is the natural query.

Or one recalls the remark of Julian Story's mother, when a vain painter named Tilton ranged himself with Tilton and Tintoretto as one of the world's great masters. She said with asperity that the only thing she knew of that was the equal of the "Assumption" of Tilton, was the assumption of Tilton.—(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

CONCERNING AUTO BUSES

Public Service Commission Holds Hearing February 15 to Consider Many Matters Regarding Public Safety.

Albany, Feb. 6.—The Public Service commission today took action to bring about safety in the operation of auto buses in various parts of the state.

There will be a hearing at Albany on February 15 to consider the advisability of general instructions to auto bus operators to do away with the location of gasoline tanks inside buses. There are many buses in operation at the present time with gas tanks in the front part of the car and near the entrance for passengers. It is contended that this location of gas tanks adds to the danger of auto bus operation filling the gas tanks. Auto bus manufacturers have been giving this question consideration and it is believed there should be uniformity in the installation of tanks outside of cars.

Complaints have been received by the commission from bus operators in having the gas tanks filled. Passengers have been known to enter cars, carrying lighted cigars and cigarettes, when the bus operators were having the gas tanks filled. The commission, after its inquiry, will take whatever action is deemed necessary in the interest of the safety of the bus riding public and bus operators required to comply with its ruling.

Fast and unsafe operation of auto buses during the winter period when highways are covered with ice and snow is not to be permitted, under notice sent by the commission today to all auto bus operators who are running under a certificate issued by the commission. Operators are directed not to run their buses according to their time schedules when the highways are in a dangerous condition and sliding and skidding of buses possible. The operators, the commission today directs, shall lessen their running time so that operation will be free from all danger even if they are compelled to disregard their time schedules. Violation of the commission's instructions may result in the revocation of the certificate granted by the commission.

DEATH OF HARRIS GILLET.

New Years a Respected Resident of Albany and Litchfield.

Albany, Feb. 6. — Harris Gillett, a leading farmer of the town of Litchfield, died suddenly at about 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Gillett had been in poor health for about a month and for the past two weeks had not been out of doors, though up and about the house. This afternoon his daughter, Theresa, who resided with him, was with her usual custom to the postoffice. She was gone only a few minutes, and on returning found her father lying on the floor in the back yard. Aid was at once summoned, but life was already extinct. The cause of death was evidently heart failure. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but will be announced in The Star of Thursday.

Mr. Gillett, who was a son of Lewis and Mary Ann (Calkins) Gillett of Litchfield, was born December 21, 1824. He was married in 1855 to Mary Elizabeth Marks, and came to Sidney in 1867, where he purchased the extensive tract known as the Ira E. Sherman stock farm. This property he extensively improved, erecting new buildings and establishing a fine dairy. This property he sold in 1905 to Edward A. Vanderweert and moved to Litchfield, where his wife died ten years ago. The only surviving members of his family are the daughter, now named, five nephews and a niece.

Mr. Gillett was a regular attendant of the Presbyterian church, and was an upright, much respected man who leaves many friends who will learn with regret of his demise. He was for many years a director and vice-president of the Sidney National bank, in the organization of which he was closely allied with John A. Clark and Horace G. Phelps.

GEORGE M. GLAZIER, JR., DEAD

Former Proprietor of Hotel Goodyear at Colliers and Recently of the Georgian at Binghamton—Prominent Elk.

George M. Glazier, Jr., who for several years conducted Hotel Goodyear at Colliers and who is well known in this city, died early yesterday at the family apartments of the Georgian Hotel in Binghamton. Myocarditis or inflammation of the heart was the cause of death. He had been ailing since November but it was not thought that his condition was critical.

He was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual banquet of the Binghamton Elk, which had been scheduled to be held at the Arlington hotel next Monday night. He had worked on the plans until Saturday night. He retired Monday night as usual and was visited by members of his family at midnight. They were called to his bedside about 10 minutes later when he complained of feeling suddenly depressed and he passed away almost immediately. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillie A. Glazier; a son, Raymond A. Glazier, both of Binghamton; a brother, Charles H. Glazier of Boston, and a stepmother, Mrs. Emma J. Glazier, of Brookline, Mass.

Mrs. Glazier was born at Cambridge, Mass., in 1870. He conducted the hotel at Colliers for several years and it did good business, many Otsego people dining there. He resided here a short time after retiring from that hotel and then removed to Binghamton, where he lived at the Georgian hotel at the corner of Hawley and Exchange streets. Later he purchased the property and added a story to the building. In 1918 he exchanged that property with the T. W. C. A. for the building at Washington and Lewis streets, which he remodelled and erected an addition and then opened as the New Georgian. He has since conducted that hotel.

Mr. Glazier had held all the chairs in Binghamton lodge of Elk and was in past exalted ruler. He was several times elected delegate to various state and national Elk meetings. He served on several important state committees.

Frederick M. Philleary Killed.

Albany, Feb. 6. — Frederick M. Philleary of this village was instantly killed at the local plant of the Empire State Dairy company Saturday morning. Mr. Philleary was formerly manager of the Empire State Dairy company plant in East Meredith for several years.

Mr. Philleary went to the upper part of the ice house alone for an inspection of the loading machinery in the morning. When the engineer tried to start the conveyor at about 1:30 in the afternoon he was unable to do so and made an investigation. The body of Mr. Philleary was found with his clothes and body wound in the conveyor that it was necessary to cut them to remove him. His neck and several bones were found broken, and his watch had stopped at 1:30, which is assumed to be the time of the accident.

The funeral was held in the Methodist church of this village this morning with a preliminary prayer service at his home, with the Masonic lodge in charge, and the body was taken to Norwich for interment.

BEWARE OF STOCK SWINDLES

Secretary of Treasury Mellon Warns Against Questionable or Worthless Bonds and Stocks—Redemption of Liberty Bonds a Fertile Field.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 6.—Persistent and increasing efforts on the part of unscrupulous brokers and financial sharks to secure control or possession of maturing Victory Notes and War Savings Certificates in exchange for questionable or worthless bonds and stocks has impelled the United States Treasury department to repeat its warning issued by Secretary Mellon at the first of the year to holders of such government securities. John A. Prescott, president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, said here today.

"In addition the department has strongly endorsed the action of the Investment Bankers' Association of America which recently adopted a resolution prohibiting its members from conducting campaigns for the trading out of Liberty Bonds, Victory Notes and War Savings Certificates into other securities," added Mr. Prescott, who received today the government's endorsement and approval of the association's action.

The president asserts that the present redemption of Victory Notes and War Savings Certificates, amounting in the first case to a total of $750,000,000 and in the other to the sum of $25,000,000, lends a fertile field to the activities of such unscrupulous stock promoters.

"These maturing Government securities are held by a large number of people who invested in them during the war from patriotic motives but who never before had made any investments and who therefore have little or no experience in such matters," says President Prescott. "It is this class of men and women who are being imposed upon by the promoters of fraudulent securities."

"To protect people who apply to them for advice in the matter, many bankers are strongly recommending the redemption of such funds in other government securities or other sound investments of proven worth."

"The resolution adopted by the Investment Bankers' Association of America declares all members of the association are hereby requested to refrain from any campaigns conducted either by public appeal circulars, advertisements, or the concerted action on the part of salesmen, which have for their purpose the inducing of owners of United States Government securities to exchange same for other forms of investments and that all members of this association are urged to use all possible influence in causing others to refrain from using similar campaigns."

"The following simple rules have been suggested by investment bankers of wide experience as an acid test for investors:

"Rule 1. Never permit a salesman to rush you into buying by the argument that the securities will be sold over night.

"Rule 2. Take the literature and the salesman's statements to your investment banker for analysis and investigation.

"Rule 3. Confine your investment transactions to investment houses and bankers of established reputation and responsibility.

"Rule 4. Do not deal with total strangers.

"Rule 5. If your commercial or investment banker's recommendation is to let the securities alone, do so."

"The treasury department states that there are still more than $200,000,000 of U. S. Victory 4% per cent notes of the series A, B, C, D, E, and F, which were called for payment on December 15th but have not been presented for payment.

"The treasury department further announced that it will retire the uncalled Victory notes at any time, at $100 and accrued interest, if presented for payment.

Rhodes at Binghamton in a $100,000 negligence action brought by John Cover of Windsor against the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company, as the result of an accident at Lanesboro, Pa., in which Cover lost his left arm when he was struck by a work train. A Broomfield County jury awarded Cover a verdict of $20,000. In the second trial of the case, it is expected that an appeal will be made from the order of Justice Rhodes to the appellate division of the supreme court by Moe Goldstein, attorney for the plaintiff. Thomas E. Kettell, of Binghamton, Howard & Kettell, appeared for the railroad company.

A STORY OR TWO

Charles M. Schwab said at a dinner in New York:

"They tell us to beware a social revolution, but hasn't a social revolution already taken place?"

"A bricklayer called on a college professor the other day and said: 'Say, prof, my daughter wants to study Greek. Like to have the job of teaching' her?"

"Indeed, I should," said the professor eagerly. "Suppose I have her three lessons a week—one-hour lessons, you know. How would that suit?"

"Humph!" said the bricklayer. "How much are you going to charge an hour?"

"The professor laughed genially. 'I'll be quite fair,' he said. 'I'll make my rate per hour just the same as yours.'"

"The bricklayer turned red in the face. His eyes bulged.

"You profiteering extortioner!" he growled, as he clumped out."

Mandy, the washerlady, was at dinner satisfying her well-earned appetite, when a neighbor came in with a very serious look on her face, says the Boston Transcript. Evidently something dreadful had happened.

"Mandy," said the caller, "prepare yourself for some powerful bad news. Your husband, he just been in the worst accident—"

Mandy went on with her meal, but she spared time for an interruption. "Land sakes!" she said. "If Heston am dead, you sho' am gwine to hear some awful wailin' soon as I finish dis yere meal."
